Dear Andrew

A quick note of thanks for all your help with shipping our Atlantic Race boat Marion out to Gomera and then home again from Antigua, we are very appreciative of all your help and interest... not sure how anyone else could have done it even half as well frankly!!

I think deciding to race yourself, to check the boats were getting across OK, and then joining me at midnight on a coral reef a mile out to sea to rescue our boat may have stretched the term "dedication to the job" a bit far. On a serious note you did at least fully understand what the event and equipment meant to all concerned, away from the basic logistics of moving stuff about which is itself is a hard enough task given what I know and saw! A job very well done.

I hope you will be involved in future crossing attempts, although perhaps working more as the logistics professional than as one of the rowers... once lucky, twice etc, etc! No doubt catch up with you soon, similarly if I can be of any help or support to others attempting their dreams please let me know.
